

McTimoney: for health,
performance & soundness

Your Local Practitioners:

For a list of accredited practitioners in your area, please visit our website.

The McTimoney technique aligns and balances the animal's musculoskeletal system. By manipulating any misaligned joints throughout the whole body, with special attention to the spine and pelvis, it helps both to restore and maintain health, soundness and performance.

The treatment of animals is currently regulated under the Veterinary Act. All of our members have been trained in McTimoney techniques for animals and hold either a Postgraduate Diploma or MSc in Animal Manipulation. Our members work closely with vets to ensure a safe, appropriate and effective treatment takes place.
